Bond Holders Ask Hike in Gas Rates

An increase in the present rate for natural gas paid by Waveland consumers has been asked by M. A. Saunders and company, holders of bonds on the system.

It is much better to go ahead and raise your rates legitimately at the present time rather than wait until the system gets down and then raise them, M. A. Saunders, president of the company, wrote to Garfield Lader, the letter resulted from the audit report on Waveland's 1957-58 fiscal year.

Waveland and Bay St. Louis present gas rates are $1.10 minimum for the first 200 cubic feet and $1 a thousand for the next four thousand.

Other Mississippi coast towns, except Pascagoula and Moss Point, pay a minimum of $2.50 for the first thousand and $1.20 for the next two thousand.

Saunders' letter urging the increase was based on the present rate paid by Waveland's gas and hot water system for gas and not on the increase proposed for May 1 by United Gas Pipe Line Company. Both Waveland and Bay St. Louis expect to protest the proposed raise.

Rates for the two towns already have been increased three times in less than three years. Both systems have so far absorbed the raises, and Commissioner J. Cyril Glover says there is a possibility that the bond-free Bay St. Louis utility can continue to absorb the December, 1959, raise, but that the proposed raises would necessitate an increase.

2,800 File For Homestead Tax

About 2,800 property owners filed applications for homestead exemption for 1959, according to the office of tax assessor Claiborne Lader. Less than 100 persons who were qualified and still living in the county failed to file, added George Heitzmann of the office.

Deadline for filing was April 1.

City Hall received 958 applications from Bay St. Louis, 302 from Waveland, and 301 from outside county areas within municipal separate school district. Of those qualified, eight in Bay St. Louis and 15 outside failed to apply, said the office of Commissioner Warren Traub.

Clermont Water Plea Is Delayed

Hearing on the application of Clermont Harbor Waterworks for an increase in rates has been continued until the May session of the Public Service Commission, according to Rep. Walter J. Phillips, attorney for Ray W. Planchard, owner of the utility.

On April 7 the PSC continued the case until April 20 so that a special hearing could be had. Because of their inability to be present on that date, opponents of the rate increase asked for a continuance.

The petition of the utility lists operating expenses of $4,113.01, including depreciation of $791.37, and net income of $682.99, on a purported investment of $70,000, including itemized equipment and improvements since 1952 of $6,636.22, supplies on hand of $150, and estimates of value on other assets of the remaining $63,217.78.

Meanwhile a mass meeting of waterworks' customers has been called at the Clermont-Harbor School at 8 p.m. Saturday to review progress of their committee in mapping opposition to the requested $5.25 hike in the annual rates.

Philip Finn has been chosen as chairman of the consumers' committee with William A. Tonglet as co-chairman. Others serving are Birch Bankston, J. P. Rousseau and Leonard Lader, president of the civic association which initially spearheaded the opposition.

The committee met last Friday night with Planchard but, according to Rousseau, was unable to reach any compromise with him to provide for better water pressure along with a rate hike. Apparently through a misunderstanding about dates, the Clermont Harbor group waited for one and a half hours Thursday night for the waterworks owner to meet them but he failed to appear.

Open House Set At North Central

A gala open house is planned by the Hancock County Board of Education next Friday, April 24, to unveil to the public its brand new $475,000 North Central High School just completed on a 40-acre tract on State Route 603 seven miles north of Kiln.

The school board inspected the premises last Saturday morning and gave their approval to the architect, Charles Proffer of Gulfport, and the contractor, Orvil McClendon, and a formal inspection by a representative of the State Department of Education is slated today.

Plans for the open house, beginning at 4 p.m. next Friday, were made by the board at a joint meeting Tuesday with the faculty and R. A. Webb, supervising principal for the school.

The spacious gymnasium with collapsible bleacher seats designed for easy conversion from play arena to auditorium will be the scene of a basketball game that evening between a combined Kiln-Sellers team and Pelahatchie High School.

School buses in the district will run their regular routes for school children and patrons to visit the new school and see the game. They will arrive at the school in time for the preliminary B game at 7 p.m.

The combined Kiln-Sellers team will represent the material available at the school for next year, according to Coach James Johnson. The Pelahatchie outfit won the South Mississippi title and placed third in the state in Class B-BB competition. Both Kiln and Sellers got the finals in the South Mississippi meet last season.

Two Nurses Join Staff Of Hospital

Two registered nurses, Mrs. Ora Bell Payne of Gulfport and Mrs. Charles Gottschalk of Bay St. Louis, have been hired by Hancock County Hospital since last month's raising of nurses' salaries, Edgar Little, administrator, told the hospital board of trustees at its meeting Tuesday night.

Their employment raises the registered nurses' staff at the hospital to five.

All seven trustees have been officially accepted as members of the Mississippi Association of Hospital Governing Boards. Membership, which will total $35 for the seven trustees, was approved at the March meeting. This is the only board of its kind in the country, Little noted, as there is no other organization of hospital trustees on a state-wide basis.

New accounting forms will make it possible for the present hospital staff to cope with bookkeeping with only about two days a month help from a professional bookkeeper, Little said.

The present bookkeeper, P. L. Sarra, is leaving the staff this month. The trustees approved Little's request to have a letter of thanks for his service sent to Sarra.

Little said he and Mrs. Marjorie Hedrick, medical records librarian, could keep the records. Mrs. Hedrick and Mrs. Carrie Lee Merrin, insurance clerk were given salary raises.

With the present dietitian scheduled to stop working April 23, Little stressed that a replacement must be found. A registered dietitian could not be hired for the present salary, $175. Since $35 remains in the salary budget, the board approved raising of the dieticians salary if necessary.

A 29-item March docket for $2,835.99 was presented by treasurer T. T. Reboil, who added that salaries for March were $3,758.54. Although this is only $5.77 less than the February docket of $2,864.22, considerable drops were shown in expenses for five divisions of the six included on the docket. Heavy medical expenses this month kept the "obvious economies" from appearing in the total, Reboil said.

Admission to the game, a featured attraction at the opening, will be 25 and 50 cents with proceedings going to the new school's athletic fund.

County board officials and faculty members will be on hand to greet the public at the open house, Webb said. Guides will be available for tours of the modern premises and refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria.

North Central, which will combine existing educational plants at Kiln, Sellers, Leetown and Dedeaux under one roof, will be open during the last week of the 1958-59 term for registration of students for next year. Graduating classes from those schools also will hold their commencement exercises in the new gymnasium.

Construction of the plant began last spring and a two-week work stoppage over use of non-union labor from Hancock County in the electrical phases contributed to the delay in completion. It had been hoped to have the building ready for use this spring.

Administrative and high school classrooms occupy the central building which includes a modern and well-lighted library, cafeteria which can be converted into a small auditorium for parent-teacher meetings and limited school functions, a completely stainless steel equipped kitchen and some of the most up to date chemistry laboratory designing in the area. School officials visited many buildings along the coast before deciding which features could best serve the needs of the county.

Especially attractive and utilitarian is the elementary grade wing with its mite-sized combination chair-desks, lavatory facilities in the rear of each classroom also scaled to size for the young users, and the protective railing along the window openings on the outside walkways.

The industrial arts and agricultural department is at the other end of the central structure and housed in a separate building with a large workshop, lecture room and facilities for storage of equipment.

NO Chamber Joins Push to Better 90

New Orleans Chamber of Commerce has offered to discuss the possibility of completely four-laning U.S. 90 between the Alabama and Louisiana state lines, it was disclosed at Tuesday's meeting of the safety committee of Coast Council of Chambers of Commerce.

Bay St. Louis representatives to the meeting in Friendship House were Henry W. Osolnach, James De Blanc and the Rev. Charles R. Johnson. Others present were Sam Jeffcoat and Roland Martin of Pass Christian, James Presley of Long Beach and William Adams of Gulfport.

No date has been set for the New Orleans-Coastal strategy meeting.

Committee members expressed dissatisfaction with Highway Commissioner John Smith's reaction to their request for a four-lane highway. It was claimed that Smith did not satisfactorily answer questions in regard to expansion of the highway.

Osolnach, chairman of the seven recommendations of the Bay St. Louis safety committee to the Mississippi Safety Council and read correspondence exchanged between Smith and Fred Quint and himself. Quint is another member of the Bay St. Louis committee.

Water safety also was stressed at the session with Osolnach reporting that the Red Cross sponsors an aquatic school at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg

Municipal Separate School System Superintendent Joe D. McCullough expressed confidence today that the state Educational Finance Commission would grant the $55,000 requested by the local system for expansion by Monday.

The state sold $20 million in school construction bonds Wednesday to a 60-firm syndicate at an interest rate of 3.022199 per cent. Racial peace on the school front was credited by Gov. J. P. Coleman with making the "gratifying" interest rate possible.

A syndicate headed by Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and First National Bank of Jackson submitted the bid. The syndicate includes Alvis and Co., Southern Bond Co., Jamp Jones Co. and J. W. Woodward Co. of Jackson and John R. Nunnery of Meridian.

The local school system in December floated a $185,000 bond issue, and requested the $55,000 to provide sufficient funds for the $240,000 program which includes:

A $185,000, 16-room white elementary school to be constructed on the 29-acre Dunbar Avenue property owned by the school system.

A $40,000, four-classroom addition to Valena C. Jones School.

McCullough said the Bay St. Louis application was scheduled for consideration this week. The commission already has allocated $16,500,000, leaving $3,500,000 to be allotted.

Pearl River President Is Career Day Speaker

Annual career day at Bay High School is scheduled Thursday, April 23, with Garvin Johnston, president of Pearl River Junior College and newly elected president of the Mississippi Education Association, delivering the opening address.

Announcement of the program which gets under way at 9 a.m. is made today by J. D. McCullough, superintendent of city schools. Representatives of 11 professions will be at the school to give talks on their particular fields.

After Johnston's talk, sessions are scheduled from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. on auto mechanics and the building trade by Philip Hunt of Pearl River Junior College, and on the Air Force by Dalton R. Dennis is the Hattiesburg Air Force recruiting station.

From 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., Mr. Stagenga of Mississippi Southern College will speak on business education while Dr. Carl McQuagge, also of Mississippi Southern, will outline prospects and requirements in the teaching profession. At the same hour Miss Jackie Hansen of Providence Hospital School of Nursing, Mobile, Ala., will speak on nursing.

A career in beauty culture will be discussed by Mable Bryant Hunter of New Orleans Barber and Beauty College from 1 to 2 p.m. Scheduled at the same hour are talks on law by Dan Russell, Bay St. Louis attorney; on the housewife and homemaker by Mrs. Talmadge Mauldin, Hancock County home demonstration agent, and on forestry by Hugh Hill of the Picayune forest area.

George Hopkins Jr. of Gulfport will speak on engineering from 2 to 3 p.m. and a representative of the Army's recruiting station at Gulfport will describe the advantages of a career in that branch of the service.

Supervisors Given Hope For More Hospital Bids

The outlook brightened Monday for satisfactory bids on the new Hancock County Hospital when the second set of prices are received by the board of supervisors at a special meeting April 28.

Supervisor R. G. Hubbard Jr. reported to the board that Wilfred Dawson, Gulfport architect for the project, had told him 10 general contractors have received specifications for the building as well as seven mechanical contractors and six electrical contractors.

Three of the general contractors were New Orleans firms, one was in Mobile and one in Jackson, he said, and the rest were coastal companies.

Supervisors directed re-advertising for bids on the hospital after deeming the initial bids, lowest of which was nearly $113,000 over estimated costs, too high.

Board attorney Sam L. Favre Jr. suggested that action on a request by Bayou LaCrosse voters for their own voting precinct be delayed until a decision is reached on another request of voters in that area to be transferred from District 5 to 4. The area was made part of District 5 in 1952 by order of the Board and technically will remain so until reversal of the order by Chancery Court.

Some action is expected at the June term of court since Judge William Hewes overruled all demurrers at the last term and said the case must be heard on its merits.

Request of courthouse janitor Roland LaFontaine for a salary raise was denied. The possibility of having local prisoners help him during the day will be investigated. His salary is $175 per month.

A county bulb dozer will be used this week to level some ground which belongs to North Central school, scheduled for formal opening this month. Superintendent E. E. Breland was told he could "count on the equipment until it is needed for construction of the state aid road in District 5.

Clerk of Courts A. C. Mitchell urged the supervisors to have all county employees bring their social security numbers to his office before April 23.

A $50 fee promised to the South Mississippi Live Stock show March 16 through 19 will be considered before payment.

Industry Needs It Too

Hancock County as a good location for new industry occupied much of the program at the dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week. Dr. W. L. McFarland, who was the main speaker, pointed out that for many years the Bay area had had one large industry—health. His new project, Gulf View Haven, is but an extension of that business, and advance indications are that it will be a successful one. The Echo hopes so, but in the reports of project chairman advocating industry for the area and in Dr. McFarland's address one major need of industry that is still lacking in Hancock County was never mentioned—a modern hospital.

Industries need it for their employees. People of advanced age at Gulf View Haven may well need a hospital's facilities. Certain that these speakers recognize this need, the Echo wants to again emphasize to its readers the importance of a fully equipped hospital for the county. It's important for the health and convenience of the people. It would assist the economic development of the area, and, strangely, it would likely save the taxpayers some money. The reason for this last phenomenon is that the present small hospital takes care of the county's charity cases, and its facilities must be supported by taxes and the few beds left for paying patients. A larger and more efficient hospital would have many more-paying patients to assist the taxpayers in paying the overhead expenses.

The number of contractors asking for specifications of the proposed new hospital indicate that the Board of Supervisors was right in advertising for new bids. Perhaps this time one of them will bid within striking distance of the funds available.

We hope so.

Wavelands Dogs

Waveland has a "dog ordinance" directing the town marshal to round up all stray dogs, impound them and if not claimed in three days to destroy them. During "dog days" the marshal is directed to destroy them without the waiting period. This law was passed in 1888 and re-discovered a month ago.

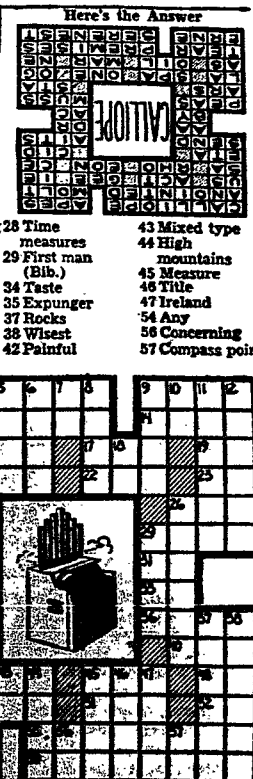

Waveland has a stray dog problem. From comments heard here and there the Echo gathers that the problem is getting progressively worse. The Echo from experience also knows that where laws concerning man's best friend are involved the official charged with carrying out the law is usually in the awkward position of making enemies if he does his duty and enemies if he doesn't.

Waveland's present law on impounding dogs is harsh, but in 1888 rabies shots were unknown. Even now there is no veterinarian in the Bay area. The Echo believes the Town Council of Waveland should modify its 1888 ordinance in three respects: one, irrespective of time of year any dog picked up should be impounded for at least 24 hours to permit its possible owner time to claim the dog; two, dogs with tags showing they have a currently effective rabies inoculation should not be taken in by the marshal; and three, owners claiming their pets at the pound should be required to have their dog inoculated within some short time, perhaps a week.

This is more than a question of nuisance and sleepless nights, the health and safety of the people of Waveland, particularly the children, are involved. The Echo hopes the Town Council will act, and act soon, and that the 1959 law will be enforced, though Marshal Fred Bourgeois shouldn't have to use his car as a pound.

The Roof Won't Stay On

County Agent Notes . . .

By HOWARD SIMMONS

GRAIN SORGHUM

Advantages: You can plant it as late as July in Hancock County and still get a grain crop or graze it down.

Grain sorghum will stand dry periods and still recover and make a good crop.

Grain sorghum will out-produce corn on dryish land.

It lends itself well to farms having combines available.

Disadvantages: Insects present more of a problem with grain sorghum than they do with corn.

Grain sorghum deteriorates rapidly when left in the field after it matures. This means drying facilities in the farm or a good dryer available close-by. If weather for harvesting is bad, you might lose a grain crop.

Tips on Planting: Uniformity is the key-word. This means plant at a uniform date, at a uniform depth and with uniform fertilizer distribution. Staggered plantings usually mean a lot of midge trouble and a lot of damage.

Varities recommended include open headed D-50 and R-5, 610; two shorter stalked varieties are D-44C and D-66 E for pull-type combines.

Seeding rates are seven to 10 pounds per acre. At planting time use 36 pounds of phosphorus and 40 pounds of potash.

Then sidedress with 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen.

TIPS ON CATTLE

How to make more money: increase the calf crop percentage. During the 10 years 1946-57, Mississippi cattlemen got only 72 calves out of each 100 cows.

Increase the weight and grade of calves. Each time the grade falls from one to the next (choice to good) it takes an extra 50 pounds of weight to make up for the money lost in down grading.

Make calves more uniform; stop year-round breeding. Don't breed heifers too early.

Use better bulls and make sure that there are enough bulls available to get cows properly bred.

Provide plenty of pasture and avoid overgrazing—both are basic in a cattle program.

Avoid selling light calves. If it costs $50 or more to produce a calf, you won't make much when a 175 to 250 pound calf is sold.

Do a good job of dehorning and castrating. These may increase market values of calves $1 to $4 a hundred pounds.

Marketing is most important. Some cattlemen do a good job of production and management for 364 days, then fall the last day by doing a poor job of marketing. Don't let this be you.

Congressional Sidelights

By REP. WILLIAM M. CUKMER

CIVIL WRONGS

Ever since President Truman shocked and divided the "solid South" in 1948 with his message to the Congress demanding so-called civil rights legislation, the do-gooders, NAACP'ers, the politicians and the so-called liberals have been flooding the boopers of both the House and the Senate at the beginning of each session of the Congress with new bills purportedly designed to insure the civil rights of the Negro in this country. Although the Congress passed a Civil Rights Bill in 1957, this session has been no exception to the rule. There have been 47 bills introduced in the House alone.

Hearings are currently being conducted by both the House and Senate Judiciary Committees to which these bills are referred. So far, the hearings have been confined to proponents of the legislation. Beginning next week in the House, the opponents will be heard. The proposals in the various bills vary considerably. They run the so-called "moderate" proposals of the President and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson to the more vicious ones advocated by the Powells and the Cellars in the House and the Javities, Douglasses and Humphreys in the Senate. But they all have one purpose in common—namely, the placing of more power in the Federal Government to harass and regiment the free people of the United States under the guise of guaranteeing liberties to the minority group of Negroes in this country.

The whole question being a political one with the political objective of garnering the ever increasing Negro vote in the North coupled with the fact that next year is a Presidential election year forbodes no good for the South and those citizens of the North who are opposed to further centralization of government here in Washington. In this mad scramble for votes, the real welfare and progress of the Negro race is lost sight of.

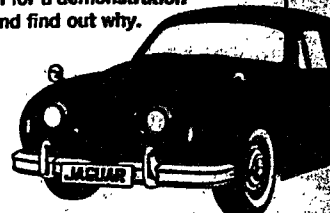

The fact that an ever widening gap is being driven between the white man of the North, as well as the South, and the Negro, is apparently of no concern to the proponents of these proposals. The true progress of the Negro from serfdom to full citizenship and harmonious relation with his white brother is also apparently forgotten. Likewise, the Northern Democratic leaders, now in full control of the Democratic party machinery, seem to have forsaken the philosophy of Jefferson, to whom they render lip service. They are more concerned about the Negro block vote in the great metropolitan centers than they are in the unorganized solid South. In fact, they seem to be perfectly willing to drive us out of the party, if necessary, to hold these votes.

With this situation facing us, those of us in the Congress from the South are determined to resist these new force bills to the bitter end. That the odds are against us, of course, is apparent. We may be small in numbers but we are strong in determination and the will to resist.

To that end, we Southerners in the House are organized. We are arranging for as many of our Southern officials and other outstanding citizens from our several states as we can induce to come to Washington and testify against these bills before the House Judiciary Committee. On the whole, the response has been good and we have arranged for a number of governors, attorneys general and other outstanding officials to appear before that committee. From Mississippi, we have acceptances so far from Attorney General Patterson, President Mowbray of the State Bar Association and Boyd Campbell, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. We understand that Governor Coleman will appear before Senator Eastland's Judiciary Committee where similar hearings are being held.

COAST MUNICIPAL LEADERS—Members of the Coast Municipal Association are pictured above as they attended a dinner meeting Monday night for which Waveland town officials were hosts at Pine Burr restaurant. Representatives were present from Pascagoula, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, Long Beach, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis as well as Waveland Mayor Garfield Ladner and members of his governing body.

Grandparents Get Custody of Jeanfreau Son

Chancery Judge William Hewes Tuesday granted custody of the son of a local woman sentenced to the state penitentiary for bigamy to the maternal grandparents of the child.

The case, Arthur Jeanfreau Jr. versus George and Agnes Tartavouille, involved Jeanfreau's plea for custody of William Arthur Jeanfreau, allegedly his son by his marriage, Oct. 27, 1954 to June Marie Choina Jeanfreau. The mother was convicted in Harrison County this year on a bigamy charge. The child, about 1, had been living with the Tartavouilles.

After conference with his attorney, Cornelius Ladner, and Walter J. Phillips, defense attorney, Jeanfreau agreed to let the child remain in custody of the Tartavouilles with the stipulation that he would not be responsible in any way for support of the child.

Cash Is Stolen At Logtown School

Cold cash was taken Sunday night from the lunchroom at Logtown School where thieves pried open the lock to a deep freezer and took $300 stored inside.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, who investigated, said the incident was reported Monday morning by Oscar Breland, principal of the school, who said the robbery apparently had occurred between 11 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday. The burglars evidently had unsuccessfully attempted to pry loose a door lock before entering through a window.

Area Bulk Milk Cooler Studied

Pittsburgh Lee was reappointed to a three-year term as Soil Conservation District Commissioner at a meeting April 6 of the Hancock County Coordinating Council in the Coast Electric Power Association Building. He is SCD treasurer.

H. H. Shattuck of Coast Electric discussed the possibility of installing a bulk milk cooler system for all dairy farmers in the coastal area. He said he would go to Washington this week to discuss the problem with government authorities.

Marion Parker was named publicity and general chairman of the Forestry Contest this year. Contestants over 21 and willing to carry out a woodland project that can qualify may contract Mr. Parker or other agricultural officials in the county for applications due June 1.

Church Supper To Finance Parsonage

The congregations of the Clermont Harbor, Waveland and Pearlington Methodist Churches will sponsor a supper at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the recreation rooms of the Clermont Harbor Church.

Proceeds will be used to make a down payment on a parsonage for the pastor who serves the three churches. He is Brother Kermit Rouse.

Tickets may be secured at the door or from the general chairman, J. Moreau, at HO7-6443.

STATMENT OF

W. E. (Bucky) MOORE

W. E. (BUCKY) MOORE

This statement will serve as my announcement for re-election as Public Service Commissioner of the Southern District of Mississippi. I was born and raised in McComb, Pike County, and attended elementary and high school there. I also attended Pearl River Junior College at Poplarville and Loyola University in New Orleans.

I served in the United States Navy during World War II and after the war served as Sheriff of Pike County. I am a member of the American Legion, Lions Club and a member of the Baptist Church.

The office of Public Service Commissioner is an important office as the Commission regulates the business of railroads, motor carriers, telephone and gas companies and other utilities. My experience of nearly four years will be very helpful in rendering the people of the Southern District better service if their vote returns me to this office.

The Public Service Commission has decided many important rate cases during its present term. The Public Service Commission denied rate increases to the Southern Bell Telephone Company and the Chancery Court affirmed the decision of the Commission. The case is now pending on appeal in the State Supreme Court. The Public Service Commission also refused to allow rate increases sought by United Gas Corporation. This case is now pending on appeal in the Chancery Court.

It is my sincere belief I have made every effort to protect the rights of the people, and with valuable experience behind me can do a better job in the future. I am, therefore, asking you to re-elect me to this office. To the best of my ability I will give sober, efficient and conscientious service in the consideration of all matters coming before me as a member of the Public Service Commission.

CHOOSING ACCESSORIES

Choose the accessories for your costume with care and imagination. They include your hat, shoes, purse, gloves, hosiery, jewelry, neckwear, scarves, flowers, belts and handkerchiefs.

How hard will you wear the accessory? How often will you use or wear it? Your answers to these two questions can help you decide between quality and quantity. If your budget requires such a decision, items like everyday shoes must be durable. Purely decorative pieces that you won't be wearing much may cost less and still give you satisfactory service. Whenever possible, select "choose them with an eye for beauty."

GOLDEN YELLOW BANANAS

The color of the banana peel is a good guide to use in selecting this popular fruit. It may vary from green, to yellow flaked with brown, to yellow flaked with brown.

A room temperature of about 70 degrees, the starch of the unripened green fruit changes into the sugar of the yellow ripened fruit.

If some of the green shows at the tip, you may know the peel is brown. They are still edible.

ly underripe. If the peel is entirely yellow, you can cook or serve the fruit as a vegetable. Or it's ripe enough to eat uncooked.

When the peel is yellow flaked with brown, the banana is fully ripe. It's ready for immediate use in cereals, salads, desserts and to eat out of hand. You can digest the yellow bananas flaked with brown more quickly than less ripe ones. They have more flavor, too, than the yellow ones.

CLEAN HOME SELDOM BURNS

Yes, that what the folks who work each year with the annual Spring Clean-Up campaign say. A clean home seldom burns.

Bay PTA Plans Dance Saturday

Keep your halls, attic, closets, cellar and favorite stow-away spots free from fire's favorite fuel - rubbish. It may be discarded clothes, lampshades, newspapers, old paint cans. Clean up now for a fire safe home. Don't give fire a place to start.

STORE CLEAN CLOTHES

As you begin putting away cold weather clothes, be sure they are thoroughly clean before you store them. Perspiration and other stains can cause the clothes to deteriorate and discolor when left in them for any length of time.

Protect also from moths and other insect pests. Ask for a copy of Publication 245, Kill Household Insects.

Family of Alaskans Bask In Sunny Climate of Bay

Even a shaggy haired dog, Sherry, came with the Robert McMullen family on their recent move from Anchorage, Alaska, to New Orleans.

The McMullens, residents of Alaska for the past six and one half years, spent one day last week enjoying the warm April sun and sand beach across from the Hotel Reed. The 49th state license plate on their car, parked across from the hotel, drew the attention of many a passer-by to the four blond members of the family on the beach below.

The two tow-headed McMullen children, Linda, 4, and Mike, 2, are native Alaskans. They were born there while their father was employed with the Civil Aeronautics Commission air traffic control tower, first at Fairbanks and then at Anchorage.

Like most immigrants to Alaska Mr. McMullen and his pretty wife, Mary Jean, first saw the new state when he was stationed there with the Air Force. The contrast between completely modern cities and breathtaking surrounding natural beauty was impressive enough to hold the couple, both originally from Spokane, Wash., in what was then a territory.

"It is such a young state, Bank presidents and top lawyers and doctors are apt to be 35 or younger. In fact, 20 per cent of the population is under five," McMullen said.

The Gulf Coast is not strange to McMullen either since he was stationed at Keesler Field, Biloxi, while in the Air Force. The couple decided to move because of the exceptionally long, cold winters, with temperatures as low as 40 degrees below zero, which kept the children indoors so much of the time.

The children seemed especially delighted with the warm weather which contrasted so sharply with the wintry climate they had left.

Asked of his reaction to the South, McMullen said he and his wife expected to be very happy in the New Orleans and coastal area. "But we'll probably be back in Alaska eventually. There's something catching about it," he said.

This is part of his record.

8 Marooned at Cat Island

What was going to be an overnight fishing trip to Cat Island ended up as a weekend excursion for a party of eight Bay St. Louis men who were marooned there Sunday by the choppy seas.

The group, who went out in four boats late Saturday afternoon planning to spend just one night, included Bernie Piazza, John Monti, Tuck Monti and his son, Henry, E. V. Alme, Horace Gaudery and Mr. Conann.

When the stormy weather of the weekend eased somewhat Monday morning, part of the group got back to the mainland about 6 a.m. and the rest of the party made it home about noon.

Fortunately, they had an ample supply of blankets along having planned to sleep in the boats Saturday night anyway and found them more than welcome Sunday night as the temperature dropped even more. Their food supply ran out about noon Sunday which made the fishermen even more determined to get home as soon as possible.

Piazza pronounced the excursion pretty much of a success anyway since he managed to catch 14 flounders between 8 and 11 p.m. Saturday while the rest of the group only got six. He said it was the first time he'd been stuck out on the island in four years of fishing out there.

Activity Dinner Set at Bay High

The student activity banquet at Bay High School will take place at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 23, in the school gymnasium. Superintendent J. D. McCulloch of the city school system has announced.
